

Lab 4

Below are screenshots of both games. The first screenshot is of me playing rock paper scissors against the computer, and the next screenshot is me and my partner Venicia doing a multiplayer game.

Our project is bowling, and we are planning on using graphics for fun sound effects and visuals. For example, when someone bowls a gutter, we can do a sound effect such as “womp womp,” and when someone gets a strike, we can do a cheer noise. We can also include some trash talking within the different teams to make things more competitive and exciting.